LAST NIGHT'S DISPATCHES.

[SPECIAL DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN.]

EASTERN DATES TO JAN. 17.

EASTERN STATES.

Fisk not so Rich as Supposed.

NEW YORK, Jan. 15.—It is said that Fisk's estate is not more than $100,000 after the payment of his debts; also that the Grand Hotel sent in a bill of $2,500 for rooms, which Fisk owes.

The Tribune publishes a statement on the authority of Edward Stokes, that the Fisk-Mansfield correspondence published in the Herald, contains only unimportant letters, which have no bearing upon the case, and that the remaining letters to be published will fully bear him (Stokes) out in all statements which he made relative to this correspondence.

The Royal Hunting Party.

OMAHA, Jan. 15.—A courier from the North Platte to-day, reports the hunting party of the Duke Alexis as having a grand time. His royal Nibs has killed his first buffalo.

To-night the Indians give their war dance.

The party leaves for Denver to-morrow night.

Prof. Marsh and Party Returned.

NEW HAVEN, Jan 15.—Prof. Marsh and the scientific party from Yale College, who left here in June last to make an exploration in the Rocky mountains and on the Pacific coast, returned from California to-day.

Gossip about the Cataczay Affair.

NEW YORK, Jan. 15.—A Berlin letter states that the German Government received a circular from Gotschakoff relative to some incidents from the removal of Cataczay. This circular is said to have been necessary from the following circumstances: The American Minister Kramer, during a dinner at the house of the German Minister at Copenhagen, proposed reading a letter from the American Government explanatory of the Cataczay affair, but the Russian Minister refused to listen, and the German Minister said such a letter must not be read in his house. Subsequently Kramer went to each Minister in Copenhagen and read the letter to them individually, they, of course, reporting to their Governments. The Russian cabinet feels vexed over the affair, and rumors are afloat in Berlin that a coolness between Russia and the United States has arisen therefrom.

The same letter states that advices from St. Petersburg represent the Emperor and all his Secretarys there, consider Alexis delighted by President Grant, and the Emperor will not allow Alexis to return to Washington.

General News.

NEW YORK, Jan. 15.—The New York Herald's Washington special says that on the question of his renomination the President said he had never expressed any opinion on the subject; that he would give his views when the time come for action, and as a Republican he would feel in honor bound to support any candidate, and he would give his best efforts for his success.

At Albany, N. Y., in the Assembly, this morning, the bill legalizing the acts of Grand Jury commissioners of New York city, passed.

TRENTON, N. J., Jan. 16.—The inauguration of Governor Parker took place to-day.

NEW YORK, Jan. 16.—The run on the Third Avenue Savings bank still continues.

The crew of the bark Bertha, arrested for mutiny, in refusing to do duty unless they received spending money and shore leave. They await the requisition of the Prussian Consul.

Gould, Strong & Co. gold stock brokers have suspended.

Fire at Toledo.

TOLEDO, Jan. 16.—The Round house of the Lake Shore and M. S. R. R. at this place was burned this morning with six locomotives. Loss, $100,000.

Stokes Trial—Points of Defense.

NEW YORK, Jan. 16.—The principal defense which will be set up in the Stokes case will be that there was a conspiracy to take Stokes' life, and the shooting was therefore justifiable. Stokes' friends claim that Fisk had men following him for a week before the shooting. An attempt will also be made to prove that Fisk was armed when shot; that a loaded revolver was taken from him after; also that the wounds alone were insufficient to kill Fisk. Every effort is being made by Stokes' counsel to have the trial deferred as long as possible. There seems to be no sympathy for Stokes.

New York News.

NEW YORK, Jan. 17.—The branch of the Attorney-General's office in this city, of which Charles O'Conor had control, is closed, in view of the fact that the present Attorney-General has an office of his own here. Mr. O'Conor, however, continues his voluntary aid in prosecuting the Ring suits. The announcement in this city of the change has given rise to unfounded reports that O'Conor contemplates withdrawing from the prosecution.

Tweed's name does not appear in any of the Committees appointed in the State Senate at Albany.

A billiard match for $250 was played last evening between Dion and Gates, amateur player, Dion discounting Gates and winning by a score of 250 to 188.

Mayor Hall has not assumed his duty though his week is up. The Comptroller will have the appointment of Mayor if Hall does not return by Friday.

J. Reilly, assistant superintendent of the foreign mail department in the city postoffices was yesterday arrested on a charge of purloining money letters passing through his hands.

A special to Herald says a rumor prevails at St. Petersburg that Grande Duke Alexis has been married since his arrival in America to a Russian lady whom his father opposed, and with whom it was thought the attachment was broken off.

WASHINGTON CITY.

Congressional.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15.—Fenton presented a petition from Geo. R. Seldon, and over 1,000 other citizens of Rochester, praying for reduction of the tariff to a revenue basis; especially for removal of duties upon salt, coal and pig iron.

Edmunds presented 52 petitions from Vermont praying for the repeal of the duty on salt.

In the course of his remarks Sumner expressed regret that the President in his message favored general amnesty while he said nothing of the disabilities inflicted upon the colored race. He claimed that there were strong reasons why this measure should be united with amnesty, and said that of the two this should have pre eminence.

Vickers read a long argument and pending the general amnesty question the Senate went into executive session and adjourned.

In the House, Stokum introduced a bill for the purpose of having the bust of the late Admiral Farragut placed in the Capitol.

Ioffe introduced a bill to abolish the office Superintendent of Indian Affairs.

A bill was introduced by Butler, of Massachusetts, for the removal of legal and political disabilities incurred in the late rebellion. It provides that he act shall not enable any person to maintain a claim or right against the Government except the same has occurred before the 11th of April, 1861, and subsequent to the 9th of April, 1865; also repeals several tenure of office acts.

A Uniform Currency.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15.—Hon. Freeman Clarke will introduce in the House a bill to provide a currency of coin and paper of equal and uniform value throughout the United States. His former position as an old member of the Ways and Means Committee and ex-Controller of Currency, gives his project some value. The first section provides for the redemption in coin of legal tender notes after thirty days with a condition, and that the National Banks shall redeem their notes in New York at par in lawful money. Third, National Banks shall continue to hold their legal tender reserve fund in addition to coin on hand, till September 1, 1872, after which such requirement for a reserve shall cease. Fourth, National Banks are authorized to hold shares in a National Bank, to be as they are in New York, to an amount not exceeding one per cent. of the capital stock of the Bank, and to appoint such Bank a redeeming agent. Fifth, National Banks shall be exempt from taxation, except the redeeming bank, and coin shall be sold by the Treasury Department, when it shall reduce the coin balance below a hundred million dollars. Sixth, the time is fixed for redeeming legal tenders. Seventh, debts shall be paid in coin.

Proposed Duties.

The Senate Finance Committee, as substitute for the House bill repealing duties on coal, iron and salt, propose to fix the following duties: In all coals, 50 cents per ton of 2,240 pounds; on salos in bulk and all rock salt or mineral salt, 9 cents per 100 lbs.; on salt in bags, sacks, barrels or other packages, 92 cts. per 100 lbs.; on all iron and steel and all manufacturers of iron and steel by which either of such metals is a component part of its chief value, excepting Pig iron and steel rails, 90 per cent.; the sum of the present rates of duty being a reduction of 10 per ct. on ten of all kinds, 10 ct. per pound on all substitutes; for coffee, 20 per ct. per pound; on chickory and succory roots burnt or prepared 30 cts.; on all extracts or essences of coffee, 50 cts.; uncleaned rice, 1 ct. per pound; paddy 5ct. potatoes, 10 cts. pr. bush. tariff 90 pr ct. on present rate of duty is provided for all manufactures of cotton alpacca, and all manufacturers of wool, and all manufactures of silk which are now subject to 60 per cent. per advalorum, all metals other than iron and steel and manufactures thereof, earthen and glass ware, hides, horn, leather or manufactures thereof, India rubber, gutta percha, oil cloths, drugs and medicines and a large number of minor articles are all added to the free list.

The Secretary of War asked Congress to appropriate $42,000 to complete the marble statue of Lieut. Gen. Winfield Scott, with its pedimental, etc., in accordance with a joint resolution of Congress.

Miscellaneous Washington News.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15.—The U. S. vessels Prairie, Tallapoosa, Mayflower and Constellation are undergoing repairs at the Navy Yard.

No little opposition is beginning to be developed to the 28th and 30th articles of the Treaty of Washington. Representatives of the commercial interests of the great lakes now in Washington, contend that the provisions will have the effect if ratified and carried out to transfer to British owners a monopoly of carrying trade, and the ownership of lake tonnage to British hands, inasmuch as British vessels can be built and sailed at from 30 to 40 per cent. less in cost, in the present condition of the currency and taxation than American vessels, and that in view of this fact the United States will gain nothing, while giving away their own commerce, for the privilege of entering with American vessels into Canadian ports. It is said that the mercantile interests of New York, Boston and Portland are also beginning to be moved by the same considerations.

General Emery has again been instructed not to interfere with the State authorities of Louisiana.

It is denied in official circles that there is any unpleasantness between Russia and the United States, or that there is any truth in the report that Minister Curtin is to be recalled.

The Spanish Minister will, it is said, be furnished with a copy of the affidavit of the Captain of the Florida, as preliminary to further action. Confidence is expressed in official circles that Spain will readily make the proper amends.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15.—Justice Strong delivered the opinion of the Court in the Legal Tender case to-day. It is very elaborate. The Court takes ground that debts contracted since the passing of the Legal Tender act are for the greatest portion of the indebtedness of the country, and that they are contracted in view of the passage of said act, and that it would be gross injustice to decide that these debts shall be paid in gold, and that there is no distinction to be made between the constitutionality of an act of Congress declaring Treasury notes legal tender for debts contracted after its passage, and that of an act making them legal tender for all debts thus incurred before as well as after the passage; that the constitutional grant to Congress of power to coin money cannot be regarded as containing implied prohibition against the issue of legal tender notes and reverses any implications they are of its complete power over the currency; that the objection that the legal tender act impairs the obligation to pay a particular kind of money even if both parties understand and expect payment to be made in a certain kind of money that all law compels payment in whatever kind it shall recognize as money; when payment is made the objection that the amount of money value must possess intrinsic value, and is regarded as foreign to the subject, as legal tender acts don't attempt to make a standard of value or the assertion that their emission in coinage or any requisition of the value of money the decision overrules so much of the decision in the case of Deburn vs. Grienold, as ruled that the legal tender acts were warranted by the Constitution so far as they apply to contracts made before their enactments.

Justice Brady read a lengthy opinion concurring in the conclusion of Justice Strong.

Chief Justice Clifford and Field and all District Justices except Justice Nelson, who was not present, read dissenting opinion setting forth at great length the minority views with which the country is familiar, as having been the opinion of the Court in a former decision of the legal tender question. The Chief Justice said the Court would not sit to-morrow, but would be engaged in conference.

All Quiet in New Orleans.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16.—A dispatch received at the Executive Mansion to-night, from General Emory, reports all quiet in New Orleans, and it was supposed there would be no further difficulty.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16.—Captain Dimpfell, storekeeper in the Quartermaster's Department, is ordered to report before the retiring board at San Francisco.

The President declines to furnish troops in accordance with the request of Gov. Warmouth, Lt.-Gov. Pinchback, Speaker Brewster and their friends in the Louisiana Legislature.

Receiver at Walla Walla Nominated.

The President has nominated John S. Boger as Receiver of Public Moneys at Walla Walla.

The Late Syndicate Transaction.

A Washington special says the result of the inquiry of the Committee on Ways and Means into the syndicate transaction, is the discovery that the Government has lost the interest on one hundred and thirty millions for three months, during which time the money was in the hands of the syndicate, and the Government had no security for it whatever.

In answers to inquiries by Cox, Boutwell said the debt had increased to $130,000,000; that he construed the law to justify him in this temporary increase to enable him to place the loan upon the market. He considered that the law gives him large discretion in the matter.

Jay Cooke, in his testimony, refused to say how much the syndicate gained in the operation. It is understood that the Secretary will make no more syndicate transactions until Congress has approved the past operations.

CUBA.

From Havana.

HAVANA, Jan. 4.—Numerous telegrams have been sent to Madrid via Key West, protesting against Valmaseda's removal. A steamer chartered expressly for that purpose sailed yesterday, carrying remonstrances of the colonies, of volunteer regiments and members of the several Casidas.

Gen. Crospo leaves for Spain to-morrow.

BY ATLANTIC CABLE.

The Prince About Again.

LONDON, Dec. 15.—It is expected the Prince of Wales will have sufficiently recovered from his illness to be able to move out from Sandringham in the course of a week.

The press generally approves the project for laying a new cable from the English coast to that of the United States, and agrees that cheaper rates than those of the present lines will be a benefit to the business community and the press of both countries.

From London.

LONDON, Jan. 15.—The hearing of the Tichborne case was resumed to-day. Sir John Drake Coleridge opened for the defense. The speech of the distinguished counsel was received by the crowded court room with applause, which was suppressed.

The monster cannon made by an American foundry for the Turkish government, has arrived at Tophane, the arsenal of Constantinople.

LONDON, Jan. 16.—While a meeting of loyalists was being held to-night at Wellington Barracks, a portion of a mob of Republicans broke into the hall where the meeting was in progress, and behaved in an outrageous manner. The assemblage demolished the platform and furniture belonging to the room. The police gathered outside the building. They made no effort to prevent the disgraceful behaviour of the rioters, who held possession of the room for an hour; the gas was turned off and they retired singing the Marseillais.

A dispatch from Geneva states that ex-Queen Isabella and the Duke Montpensier met on Saturday. A reconciliation of their differences was effected.

News from Paris.

PARIS, Jan. 15.—The newspapers of Paris and all other large towns, oppose the taxation of raw materials, suggested by Ponyier Quertier. Their columns are filled with articles portelling the disastrous effects the imposition of the tax will have upon the industries of the countries.

The Red Republicans are becoming active in Lyons and the authorities exercise more than usual vigilance to prevent an outbreak.

PARIS, Jan. 16.—The meeting at Marseilles last night protested against the proposed taxation of raw material.

The sale of the Constitutional and Gaulois is prohibited by the Government.

Austrian Affairs.

VIENNA, Jan. 15.—Both houses of the Reichsrath have adopted, without amendment, the address to the Crown, calling its attention to the manifest increase of discontents among the subjects in various portions of the Empire, arising from the recent mis-government, and particularly opposing an increase of taxation for military

THURSDAY MORNING, JANUARY 18, 1872.

Mr. Sumner's Amendment.

The press of the country is very generally discussing Mr. Sumner's proposed amendment to the Constitution to make a President ineligible for re-election. The New Haven Palladium says:

Mr. Sumner does not appear to advantage in the part of a cunning trickster. To do him justice, it is not used to play. And yet he must know that a vote in favor of the amendment he proposes would be a vote against the re nomination of General Grant, and would be so received by the country. As a matter of fact, we believe it can be proved that office holders under our present system exert much more influence in Congressional and Senatorial elections than they do in Presidential, and that almost every argument against allowing a President to be re-elected will apply with much stronger force against allowing a Congressman or a Senator a second term. Yet no one considers the re-election of a faithful and able Congressman an evil. On the contrary, those Congressmen and Senators are the most useful who have been given long terms. * * * It is a question worthy of very serious consideration whether a one term amendment to the Constitution would not be a direct blow at the rights of the people and a surrender of their powers to Congress. Why should the people deprive themselves of the right to say to a good and faithful servant who has honestly performed his duty, that they wish to keep him another term in his high office? To us the proposed amendment seems to be anti democratic, and we do not believe it would find any support in the Democratic party but for their hostility to Gen. Grant. It is unfortunate that the question has been brought forward at a moment when, as we have already said, it cannot be discussed on its own merits. The amendment should have been proposed two years ago, or not brought forward until after the next Presidential election.

The Boston Advertiser, a paper that represents better than any other the intelligent judgment and Republican sentiment of Mr. Sumner's constituents, says:

There are reasons enough to confute the fallacy of the one term argument. It is assumed that the hope of re-election in the Presidential mind is an inducement to bad behavior. With the eyes of the nation upon a Chief Magistrate, and an active and interested opposition on the alert to detect and magnify his faults, it should rather be an inducement to the greatest caution, and to the best service of which human nature is capable of performing. For a person capable of corrupting his subordinates in order to perpetuate his power, it would be easy to plunder the public as a recompense for exclusion from office thereafter. We need not speak of exigencies when it might be desirable to take advantage of the experience which a Chief Magistrate has acquired, and of the confidence he has established; or when the re-election of a Magistrate, as in the case of President Lincoln, is the only apparent way of securing consistent policy and stability of administration, absolutely essential to national existence. These are self-evident propositions; and they are not met in Mr. Sumner's imposing preamble, nor in Mr. Greeley's and George Wilkes' editorials. The argument which prevailed in the beginning has lost some of its force after nearly a century's experience. There is still an excessive infatuation in the idea of disabling the people to continue in office men who have exercised themselves, in their opinion, to approbation and confidence, the advantages of which are at best speculative and equivocal, and are overbalanced by disadvantages far more certain and decisive.

We add the judgment of another paper, the Cincinnati Gazette:

Mr. Sumner's resolution to amend the Constitution by prohibiting a President of the United States from holding office for more than one term, suggests the very natural inquiry: Why not extend the principle to Senators and Representatives? All the reasons which Mr. Sumner adduces against the re-election of a President bear with equal force against the re-election of a Senator. If the President can be accused of using his power and patronage to promote his re-election, so with equal and even more truth can the Senator. If a President sometimes thinks more of what will be popular than what will be right, so certainly do Senators. In fact, not a single reason can be given for restricting the Presidential office to one term that does not apply with even more force to the office of Senator or Representative. Mr. Sumner himself, now serving his fourth term in the Senate, will doubtless be a candidate for re-election in 1873. According to his own theory, instead of being better fitted for usefulness in the Senatorial office by his long experience, he has already been fourteen years too long in the Senate, and has grown to be a very dangerous person, indeed, and the liberties of the country are seriously threatened if we may believe his own story, by his longer continuance in the high station he has adorned so well and filled so long and filled so usefully in the estimation of the public. We have not here fully considered the one-term question as applied to Presidents or Senators, and are not disposed to commit ourselves against the principle, provided the terms were extended to six or seven years for a President, and to say eight or nine years for a Senator. But we do not quite see why if the principle is good for the one office it is not equally good for the other.

The direction and force of these observations are especially notable. Nothing could be presented more directly to the point.

Competitive Examination.

In a recent number of the New York Independent Col. T. W. Higginson has an article on "Competitive Examination," in which he expresses doubt of their practical worth as a substitute for the system of appointment on personal recommendation in the civil service. His opinion rests on the experience of the method in selecting teachers for schools and officers for the colored troops in the army during the rebellion. He pronounces the officers selected by such examinations for the army on an average inferior to those who were appointed by commanding officers, and the reason was that the qualifications ascertained by the examinations were scholastic and technical, leaving out of account the natural traits of character, which are of the very first importance in the military service. Nor is he by any means certain that examining boards are sure to be free from corrupting influences which everybody desires should be avoided in the making of appointments. He quotes Froude's assertion that in China, where the competitive examination system has been in vogue a thousand years, they have the weakest and most corrupt government the world has ever seen, and the confession of Matthew Arnold, who says: "I have borne part in the examination for the English civil service, and I can truly say that the candidates to whom I have given the highest marks were, almost without exception, the candidates I would not have appointed. They were crammed men, not proved men." Mr. Higginson thinks the desirable thing is a third method no one has yet pointed out, which shall avoid the unfairness of oral examinations and the mere scholasticism of the written method. He thinks if we would escape disappointment we will do well to entertain moderate expectations respecting the proposed civil service reform, looking upon it as an experiment rather than a panacea.

A bill has been introduced in the Senate by Mr. Ramsey of Minnesota to create the new Territory of Ojibway. It is to be formed out of the northern part of the present Territory of Dakota. The division proposed will give Ojibway 74,000 square miles and leave Dakota 78,000. These nearly equal divisions of the present vast extent of Dakota will make two States of the largest class.

One of the prettiest of Christmas customs is the Norwegian practice of giving, on Christmas day, a dinner to the birds. On Christmas morning every gable, gateway, or barn-door, is decorated with a sheath of corn fixed on the top of a tall pole, wherefrom it is intended that the birds shall make their Christmas dinner. Even the peasants will contrive to have a handful set by for this purpose, and what the birds do not eat on Christmas day, remains for them to finish at their leisure through the winter.

SHORT PARAGRAPHS.

There must be some mistake about this item, which we clip from an exchange. It says: "The young men at the Wheeling watering place have discarded white vests. The young ladies use so much oil on their hair that a vest is only good for one evening on the piazza."

The greatest conglomeration of errors ever made in an obituary notice was the English notice of Daniel Webster, when he was described at once as the great lexicographer, statesman, and the author of a spelling book, and the broken-hearted brother of the murderer of Dr. Parkman.

A young man having put a crown piece into "the plate" in an Edinburgh church by mistake, instead of a penny, asked to have it back, but was refused. In once, in forever. "Aweel, aweel," grunted he; "I will get credit for it in heaven." "Na, na," said Jeems, the doorkeeper, "ye'll get credit only for the penny ye meant to gi'e."

A genius from Quincy, Illinois, sent a letter to the Secretary of State of Ohio, asking if he would not look over the census returns and see if Gordon Arnold, from New York, wasn't in Ohio. The inquirer politely enclosed a three cent stamp. As the request involved the looking over some three million names, the Secretary hasn't yet made up his mind to undertake the task.

Oysters in England have reached the enormous price of $55 a bushel, consequent upon the almost complete dredging out of the oyster beds, and are now such a luxury that only the aristocracy can afford to eat them. The reason of this scarcity is that while the Government inspector of oysters was careful to draw his handsome salary periodically, he left the poor little bivalves to take care of themselves.

It appears from a report presented to the Swiss Statistical Society at the congress recently held in Paris, that Switzerland can boast of twenty-five public libraries, containing altogether 1,920,520 volumes, and not fewer than 1,629 other libraries containing 687,936 volumes. The most extensive libraries are those of Zurich, which contains 100,000 volumes, of Basle, which has 84,000, and of Lucerne, with 80,000.

It is not a new subject—the vastness of the United States and the great amount of difference in the climates of various portions of our mighty country—but we cannot but refer to it again, when we read of two feet of snow in Michigan, and of the first ripe strawberries of the season in Fernandino, Florida. This is a singular reflection that those people down there, who doubtless think their neighbor is referred to when the climate of the United States is mentioned, will actually eat their early peaches and melons before we get our ice crop harvested.

General Sickles says persons in Europe who are ignorant of the rest of the United States, are familiar with New York, and the matters connected with it, and judge the whole country by its worst features. The Erie ring and the misgovernment of the city are regarded as the legitimate results of republicanism. It is useless to tell foreigners that the Supreme Court of the United States is a pure and incorruptible body. They consider Judge Barnard's court as the highest in the country, and say: "This is your democracy, which insures judicial decisions in favor of the richest men."

George Wilkes, editor of the somewhat noted sporting paper, is highly delighted with Mr. Sumner's one-term amendment, which he terms the opening of the campaign. But though it is well enough for a beginning it is only acceptable for what it is to lead to. It appears, according to Mr. Wilkes, that the labor element are of the opinion "that our political structure was fashioned in servile imitation of monarchy when we broke loose from Great Britain, and that it was an abuse of the first idea of republicanism to put a single man at the head of the State. They regard that man as a king, call him what you may; and they are right." Here we have communism of the latest fashion.

Mayor Medill of Chicago still receives abundant attestations of sympathy and remembrance for the desolated city from Europe and abroad. Consul Williamson, from Oolan, Peru, sends $10,000 in gold. Among other contributions, one comes from Cardiff, Wales, in which the Marquis of Bute heads the list for £1,000; then follow a circus, with £20; a histrionic club, £12; an established church, £10; a dissenting chapel, £10; and other contributions in a like amount from a Jewish synagogue and a Catholic congregation. In most of the communications Mr. Medill is styled "The Lord Mayor," and his fellow journalists slyly poke fun at him on this account.

The Statesman thus notices the effort of a writer in the Farmer on the swamp land law. He goes on to say that its friends claim "that it is the best swamp land law yet adopted in the Western State." No doubt it is the "best law" for "its friends" that was ever adopted. That is what we assert, and that is where the trouble lies. The pretense that it "gave the preference to none" is the merest bosh, because the Ring divided the State among its members, and the instant the Executive signature was affixed to the bill, the Ring claimants went in to secure their interests, and the first citizens applying therefor" were just the ring. Outsiders stood no more show than the traditional "cat without plays."

We have this from the Statesman concerning the Chemeketa Hotel: Yesterday our town had a sensation. The Chemeketa hotel was the subject of gossip and the hotel furniture was the particular cause of excitement. Messrs. Walter Bros., of Portland, had the contract for furnishing the house, and they furnished it quite elegantly, in fact rather regardless of expense. They took the Company's note for pay and a mortgage on the house and furniture for further security and agreed to wait a year, and the year being up they went for their pay, and they are not to blame for wanting it. They proposed to take personal security for the debt or to take the furniture, and the furniture was left freely to their disposal, and all day yesterday it was being removed from the house. The mortgage on the house was not a valuable lien as other liens had precedence, the mortgage on the furniture was wearing out, and the Hotel Company was not solvent, so Messrs. Walter claimed their furniture again. This was the condition of affairs last evening, but we take the liberty to anticipate a reaction before long and that some satisfactory arrangements will be made between the parties. In this connection it may not be amiss to say that the plans and specifications furnished the Company were for a building to cost $60,000. The architect first said $40,000 and finally raised his estimate to the high figures to be high enough to cover all possibilities. The cost of the building and ground, we are informed, actually reached $110,000—and therefore the Company became short of resources. We heartily hope and believe—the matter will be satisfactorily arranged, and in any case the hotel will probably not long be unfurnished.

The total ascertained debt of New York city, after deducting sinking fund and cash on hand, is $94,533,867. So reports Andrew H. Green, Controller; and he further says that this is not all, that a large amount of claims will yet come in for services rendered and materials furnished to the several departments of the city government during the year 1871, which, for want of definite information, cannot be definitely stated. In round numbers the debt of New York city is one hundred million dollars, of which amount fully two-thirds represents the amount stolen by the Democratic officials who have ruled the city.

Tweed, secure of the protection of Judge Barnard, is getting saucy again, declares that his enemies have exhausted their malignity and can do him no further harm, and that they are aware that they can't convict him. He declares his determination to hold on to both his offices.

Letters patent have recently been granted for the invention of an improved railroad car for the transportation of grain. By this invention the grain is discharged from a car in three minutes, a great saving of time over the present process. One man can attend to the unloading of ten cars, and discharge their entire contents as quickly as four men can unload one of the cars now used to carry grain.

A Terrible Situation.

An accident occurred to Miller Hawley in the township of Tompkins, Michigan, recently, which nearly resulted in a slow and terrible death to him. The particulars are as follows:

Mr. Hawley was working for a farmer and went out into the woods to cut wood. He commenced cutting a gigantic oak tree—a monarch of the forest—whose limbs, some of them, were large trees of themselves. The tree was upon a peculiar kind of side hill, and in order that it should lay in a proper position for cutting up, it was necessary to "fall" it a certain way. At length the tree was cut through and down it came, but some of the huge limbs holding it in mid-air, it was necessary to cut those before it rested upon the ground.

After cutting several smaller ones, Mr. Hawley proceeded to sever a limb about eighteen inches through which sustained almost the entire weight of the tree. He had nearly cut it through, and was about to give it a parting blow and jump out of the way, when it shivered and broke, and the gigantic tree fell with a loud crash, overwhelming Mr. Hawley and laying the stump of its severed limb across his right leg, below the knee. Not a soul was in sight or hearing, and the young man seemed doomed to die a slow and horrid death by starvation and pain. There he lay, overwhelmed and buried under the smaller limbs of the tree, with his right leg held, as it were, in a vise. Not a move could he make, but it caused him terrible agony and suffering; but he did not despair. After hallooing until he was hoarse, without any result, he set about devising ways and means for his escape.

His first thought was for his axe, which had fallen from his grasp when he was struck, and he now attempted to recover it. It had slid on the snow part way down hill, out of his reach. He stretched and strained, but it was all to no purpose; he could not reach it. A bright idea struck him, he tore off a small limb that was partially broken, and with it, after many and repeated trials and failures, succeeded in dragging the axe within his reach. Then came the slow and painful operation of cutting himself loose. He could neither sit nor stand; and, reclining in a half sitting posture, he hackled and haggled through eighteen inches of solid wood, and released his leg. He could not step on it; it was broken at the ankle, and bruised in addition.

He painfully worked his way to the top of the hill, and then, when a little rested, would resume his crawling. Finally, a farmer passing by in a wagon heard his cries and came to his assistance. A surgeon found that both leg bones had been broken just above the ankle, the fall of snow and dead leaves forming a cushion so that the leg was very fortunately not crushed.

Senator Schurz.

[From the Milwaukee (Wis.) Sentinel.]

Before the late election in this State we were assured that the Germans of Wisconsin individually and in their organized social combinations, would vote against Washburne for the reason as was alleged, that the General was a Grant man, and they were all opposed to Grant under the dictation of General Schurz. That is the way these German chickens were hatched, but after the hatching season in early November, it turns out that there was a miscount, and in those localities where the Germans most do congregate, as in this city, and in Washington and Ozaukee counties where there is less than the usual majorities against the Republican ticket. Indeed, if anything were needed to disprove the baneful effect of the Missouri Senator's influence besides the election returns which settle the whole question, it might be added that here in this city, the only locality that the Senator visited, the Democratic loss is the greatest. An additional fact might be stated to show the Schurz influence has not permeated his fellow countrymen to any alarming extent. Mr. Schurz was for many years a respectable lawyer, without clients, in this city and is well and favorably known as a scholar and a gentleman to all our German fellow-citizens. He came here to lecture on Civil Service Reform, for the benefit of the German sufferers by the Chicago fire. Both the reputation of the brilliant orator and the benevolent object for which he came—not to speak of the Democratic under-current that hoped to reap where the Senator sowed—ought to have attracted on so pleasant an evening, a large and enthusiastic audience. But the people were not there, neither his fellow-Germans that were supposed to sympathize with Schurz both in his hostility to Grant and in his efforts to assist the Chicago sufferers, nor the Democrats who laid the flattering unction to their souls that capital could be made for Doolittle, in an indirect way, by the lecture.

We may therefore be excused if we decline to take any stock in the predictions made in certain quarters unfriendly to the Administration, that Senator Schurz, of Missouri, will rally the Germans of the Union against Grant, if he should be renominated for the Presidency. They do not place implicit faith in his judgment, in this State, and they will not follow his lead if he should attempt to array them against the Republican party of the Union in the campaign of 1872.

RE-VACCINATION—On this subject, now so important, Professor George B. Wood speaks as follows in his "Practice of Medicine," vol. 1, pages 464-6-7, edition of 1866:

The operation should be employed in every case which has not been tested by exposure to small pox contagion during an epidemic prevalence of the disease. It may be asked whether vaccination should be employed in persons previously affected with small pox. I should unhesitatingly answer this question in the affirmative. It has been before stated that, though fewer persons are attacked with varioloid after inoculation or natural small pox, than after vaccination, yet a greater number perish. The same protection that a second vaccination extends in one case will probably be extended by vaccination in the other, and is even more needed, at least so far as life is concerned. It is generally stated in the books that vaccination after small pox produces little or no effect. My own observation has been exactly the reverse. In concluding this subject I would again strongly urge the propriety of universal re-vaccination as the means not only of promoting the comfort and possibly of saving the life of the individual, but also of preventing the spread of small pox and of ultimately eradicating it, if not from the globe, at least from extensive communities.

Failure of many of the most eminent physicians of San Francisco to cure a case of Rheumatism.—Triumph of the Unk Weed Remedy.

SAN JOSE, August 20, 1871.

DR. A. M. LOWRY & Co.: This is to certify that I, the undersigned, have been sick for five years with Rheumatism, and have been treated for many ailments. My trouble has been weakness of the back and side, and wandering pains all over my body. I have been treated by many of the most eminent physicians of San Francisco, as well as of this city, but without any effect. At last I was induced to try your UNK WEED REMEDY, and the result was that after taking the contents of two bottles I found myself perfectly cured. To all afflicted with Rheumatism, I say TRY THE UNK WEED REMEDY, and you will be cured. Yours truly,

CITY...

A BOY BOUND OVER FOR THEFT—On Tuesday, a young man named James C... arrested on the charge of larceny. Yesterday was arraigned before the Police Judge and, being an examination, was held to answer before the next Grand Jury of the Circuit Court. The larcenies of which he seems to be guilty have been perpetrated from time to time since the 1st of December, at the fancy store of Charles Stein, postoffice building, and amount to an aggregate of over two hundred dollars. About two weeks ago, Mr. Goldstein made the discovery that somebody had effected an entrance into his place of business by unlocking the door, and carried off a number of articles. This was repeated again shortly, and again and again, the matter became not only a very costly business to the proprietor, but a first class mystery. The affair was kept, but nobody was detected. People were constantly going into and passing out of the postoffice area, and it was inexplicable how the thief avoided being seen at his work. A clue was finally obtained which led to the solution of the mystery. An article known to have been stolen was found, and traced through various hands to young Gill, whereupon he was arrested. In the course of the subsequent proceedings Gill confessed the crime and a considerable part of the stolen property was recovered. It would appear that Gill had stolen the goods with a view to profit, for most of the articles had been given away as presents to various people—principally young ladies. He is about twenty-two years of age—a sewing operator for one so young.

UP THE COLUMBIA.—The O. S. N. Co., we learn at their office about noon yesterday received from the Lower Cascades, giving information of the arrival at that place of the Hayward, which left here yesterday morning. They also received intelligence that the company's steamer Shoshone left the Dalles for the Cascades yesterday morning, with thirty passengers on board. The Hayward started on taking the chances of getting through the Cascades. At our latest advices the Idaho had not arrived at the Cascades. The land slide at the latter place will disable the railroad for a couple of months more.

DEAD BODY OF A MAN FOUND.—The Coroner was notified yesterday that the dead body of a man was found in the Willamette river about two miles below this city. The Coroner proceeded to the place designated and found the body in such a state of decomposition that it was impossible to identify it; in fact, there was merely the skeleton of a man about five feet seven inches, enclosed in an old black rubber coat and pants. The Coroner deemed it not necessary to hold an inquest, and therefore procured assistance and buried the body near the place where it was found.

REV. A. L. LINDSLEY, D. D.—We understand that the Rev. Doctor Lindsley has in the course of a series of lectures on Sunday evenings at the Taylor street church on Third str ct, on the fundamental principles of Christianity, and that the first lecture will be continued for some time. From the Doctor's high standing as a scholar, as an applished scholar, and as a popular lecturer, we are pleased to learn that his lectures draw a large audience, particularly of young people. He is a pleasing and earnest style is always attractive.

STEAMERS TO SAIL.—The sailing of the steamer Oriental, for San Francisco, was yesterday postponed till 4 o'clock this afternoon.

The steamship California will sail from Portland, Seattle, Olympia, Victoria, &c., on Saturday, Jan. 20th, at 4 P. M.

The Queen City is advertised to sail for Sitka and northern ports on Saturday, January 27th.

ARRIVED IN THE RIVER.—The Dixie Thompson arrived yesterday afternoon from Astoria, making a day behind time. She reports the arrival at the Cascades of the American Boy; Mexico, and British ship Chetah, both from England—and of railroad iron. They were in Portland bar on Monday evening. Some of the officers aboard the Mexico are sick with scurvy.

As our latest advices the Idaho had not reached the Cascades. The land slide at the latter place will double the railroad for a couple of days yet.

DEAD BODY OF A MAN FOUND.—The Coroner, T. J. Dryer, was notified yesterday that the dead body of a man was found on the bank of the Willamet river about two miles below this city. The Coroner proceeded to the place designated and found the body in such a state of decomposition that it was impossible to identify it; in fact it was merely the skeleton of a man about 5 feet 8 inches, enclosed in an old black rubber coat. STEAMERS TO SAIL.—The sailing of the Oriflamme, for San Francisco, was yesterday postponed till 4 o'clock this afternoon.

The steamship California will sail for Port Townsend, Seattle, Olympia, Steilacoom and Victoria, on Saturday, Jan. 20th, at 4 P. M.

The Queen Pelfair is advertised to sail for Sitka and northern ports on Saturday, February 3d.

ARRIVED IN THE RIVER.—The Dixie Thompson arrived yesterday afternoon from Astoria, nearly a day behind time. She reports the arrival at Astoria of the American bark Metis and the British ship Ostech, both from England with cargoes of railroad iron. They came in over the bar on Monday evening. Some of the men on board the Metis are sick with scurvy.

NEW MUSIC.—Mr. DePrang, manager of Gray's Music Store, has laid upon our table a large sheet of piano music—"Barry's Mistake," a ballad, composed by Campana, and "Grand Duke Alexis' Welcome March," with a title page portrait of the Grand Duke. The music can be procured in any number at Gray's.

SHIPPED AND SENT BACK.—A heathen Chinee, name Lee Lage, who escaped some months ago from the penitentiary, was found at Oregon City yesterday, arrested and sent back to Salem. He was sent to the penitentiary from Jackson county A few years ago, under sentence of eleven years.

STEAMER ARRIVAL.—The steamship California from Victoria and Puget Sound ports arrived last A. M. at seven o'clock. She is announced to sail on Saturday, at 4 P. M., for the above ports.

REBEKAH LODGE MEETING.—There will be a regular meeting of Columbia Rebekah Degree Lodge, at Odd Fellows Hall, at 7 o'clock this evening, for the installation of officers.

GOOD TEMPLARS' HALL ASSOCIATION.—There will be a meeting of this association at Good Templars' Hall this evening. A full attendance is desired.

STATE TEMPERANCE CONVENTION.

CIRCULAR FROM THE STATE COMMITTEE.

We publish the following by request: "Our last State Temperance Convention adjourned to meet in Salem February 22, 1872, at ten o'clock A. M. The undersigned was appointed a committee to make all arrangements for the meeting. They recommend that all temperance and literary societies, all churches and schools, elect at least [illegible] to [illegible] that communities hold mass meetings and elect representatives. These should be men and women of sound judgment and of known temperance habits and principles. All earnest friends of the temperance cause are invited to seats in the Convention. They are also asked to send in themes for discussion and suggestions about the programme. As it is considered by all best to have an outline of business, and persons appointed to lead the discussions. Those feeling a deep interest in any temperance topic should, without fear of being egotistic, inform the committee of their desire to present the matter to the Convention.

We would also be greatly obliged for the names of capable speakers and essayists. Those acquainted with such should forward their names and the theme they can most profitably present.

Friends of the good, the holy cause of temperance, do all in your power to make the coming Convention a telling one—large, intelligent and enthusiastic and efficient.

Papers prepared to be presented to the Convention should be short, not occupying more than twenty minutes in reading—comprehensive and pregnant with facts and arguments.

Delegates should come in time for the morning session and intending to remain over the following day, if the complete success of the Convention should demand it. A very interesting programme is being prepared for a two days' session.

Names of delegates should be forwarded to J. M. Garrison, Salem, Chairman of Committee on Credentials.

LOWELL L. ROGERS,
L. J. POWELL,
J. B. McCLANE,
Committee."

AMUSEMENTS.

BEREKAH DEGREE BALL.—This long talked of affair will take place at the Skating Pavilion. The place selected is the very best in the city for a large party, the floor being large enough to accommodate two or three hundred people without crowding any. The committee having the matter in charge has secured excellent music, and made arrangements for conveying guests to and from the restaurant where supper will be served. Every other necessary arrangement seems to have been made to insure a pleasant entertainment.

THE FIRE THEATRE.—"Enoch Arden," a beautiful and popular drama, will be produced to-night. It has been carefully prepared, and will be put on the stage the most complete. Enoch Arden has enjoyed runs of great length in all the leading city theatres at the East and in San Francisco. It is worth a crowded house to-night.

SOCIAL.—The ladies of the Unitarian Society will have a "sociable" at their chapel this evening. It will be a pleasant place to spend an evening.

MATTERS AT ST. HELENS.

Our regular correspondent at St. Helens, under date of January 16th, writes as follows:

It appears that the weather here this winter is endeavoring to emulate that of some of the States east of the Rocky Mountains, and for fickleness it is a perfect success. It can go entirely through the calendar every twenty-four hours in a month, and never travel the same way twice. That's some for weather. The rain for a month past has been endeavoring to make this snow, but so far has only proved a first class failure. To-day the fog is trying its hand at it. How it will succeed remains for some future writist to write.

This afternoon the ice came down the Columbia in such quantities as to warrant us in predicting that something had broke loose—At dark the drift was still very heavy, and as the snow has proved a failure, the freeze a failure, the skating a miserable failure, it is to be hoped that the breaking up of the ice in the Columbia may yet prove a success.

Yesterday morning on coming down street we observed an unusual commotion among the male inhabitants thereof—every one we met looked grave, nodded his head, looked wise and passed on. After a great deal of perseverance, we got the attention of a very dignified knowing old chap, with a cane and another black Dorg. By strategy we obtained possession of the warm side of the knowing gent and his black Dorg, with the cane; we succeeded in obtaining the secret which had shaken this burg its foundations—and well it might. "I give it to the world as I got it: Columbia City property has advanced 100 per cent. in 50 hours—that is two per cent. per hour. We instantly caught the "prevailing disease," and being the owner and holder of uncertain feet in that city, and the state of our finances being at a low ebb, and furthermore, being of an investigating turn of mind, we thought we might find an investor with more money than brains. With us to think is to act; we put on our war paraphernalia, shouldered our shot gun and started for the scene of action, highly elated with our prospects. Arriving at the outskirts of the city we were on the lookout, and from the eminence we could behold the unusual scene at a glance. Our eagerness overcoming our better judgment, we rushed carelessly into the excitement. The first man we met, accosted us with, "Hallo! Mr. , you want to buy a four river lot? first class? only $20,000 and on the rise?" I shook my head; he passed on. The next had lots on 1st street; corner lots, $15,000; inside lots, $12,000—and so on. Every man I met had the same story to tell. Lots, choice lots, anywhere in this vast city from $500 to $20,000; everyone was a seller and no buyers. Becoming very much disappointed and thinking the thing a sell I rallied a short distance for meditation and—I saw a large portly man (he had store clothes on)—dodging as though he wished to escape observation. My courage rose; I succeeded in overtaking him. Failure having rendered me discreet, I thought of the good old Democratic argument that never fails, and producing a flask of the best old Rye from my pocket, I proceeded to ply my argument until the fun was looking fearfully pale. I thought my time had come; but alas for human forsight! I politely offered my friend a choice corner lot at a low figure, in confidence; when he turned upon me with flashing eyes and exclaimed in tones of thunder, "You demed old fool! I'm the owner of this city and have just returned from adding to it the three northern counties in California, and at the meeting of the next County Court, I mean to have it all incorporated, so git!" I got—home in double quick, with a huge disgust at this manifestation of gratitude in man, and am fully resolved in my own mind, should that man ever succeed in incorporating that city, I will be revenged upon him for that liquor, by becoming a citizen and running for Alderman, when I know, he will recognize my importance.

LOCAL BREVITIES.

The steamer Senator will resume trips between Portland and Oregon City to-day.

Buchanan's tug-boat Ben Holladay will be ready for active service about the last of this week.

The telegraph lines were working through to California, last evening—the most unusual event of the season.

A bellicose prisoner in the city jail has been fined $40 for knocking several bricks out of the wall with his fist.

Rev. Mr. Weaver has been called to the pastorate of the Evangelical Lutheran Church of this city. He has accepted and will take up his residence here.

LOOK OUT FOR DEFAMERS AND THEIR INSINUATIONS.

Saplings need support, but the old oak braves the storm.

The Superior advantages of the New England Mutual Life Ins. Co. are known: "Every day brings forth evidences of the fact." Other Companies not possessing our merits, are endeavoring to make parties believe that the Massachusetts Law is no benefit to Policy Holders.

Look out for them; they are wolves in sheep's clothing, and would delude you out of your last cent to gain business.

Lessons of instruction given free of charge upon any plan, to those desiring to effect an Insurance (on ASSURANCE). "With proofs which cannot be rebutted:" by Joseph Middlemiss, Supt. of Agencies for the Pacific Coast. Office, "Central Warehouse" No. 6 Front street—(opp. Hawley, Dodd & Co.'s new store.)

In favor of the old New England Mutual Life Insurance Co. (37 years old), the oldest purely Mutual Life Insurance Company in the United States. With annual dividends available in cash one year from date of policy. All of which are exempt from execution (by law), "amount unlimited."

The Mass. Law protects the Policy-Holder after payments have closed, "whether he gives a note or not," until dollar for dollar is worked out in actual insurance. (Look at example in their circulars.)

We are doing a business at the present time, second to none on the Pacific Coast, and propose to do the best "in every respect" for the benefit of those already insured with us, "and those who are to be." Portland office, "Central Warehouse," 6 Front street. Joseph Middlemiss, Supt. of Agencies for the Pacific Coast. Call and see him.

THE NEW ENGLAND MUTUAL LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY was incorporated in 1835, and is therefore the oldest purely Mutual Life Insurance Company in the United States. It has cash assets of over $10,000,000, and is the only Company on the Pacific Coast governed by the Massachusetts Non-Forfeiture Law, offering all the advantages of age and prudent management, its average expenses being lower than any other Company in the United States. It also offers protection against forfeiture by victims of the MASSACHUSETTS NON-FORFEITURE LAW, which is a feature of great importance, and should be carefully considered by all persons seeking insurance. Office,

TESTIMONIALS.

We the undersigned having been the recipients of the services of Mrs. M. C. White in teaching the science of Music on the Pianoforte, take pleasure in giving a hearty Testimonial that we have employed her in our families as a teacher of her "New Method of Instruction," and that it has proven superior to any method we have ever known. And that although the first cost may be a trifle greater than some others, we believe it to be in the aggregate much cheaper, inside being a great economy in point of time. We therefore, take pleasure in recommending her to the patronage of all who may be desirous of obtaining a musical education, as a very superior instructor.

To those who desire to know more about it before increasing expenditure, we give a cordial invitation to call at our houses and interview her pupils.

EAST PORTLAND, Jan. 3, 1872.

MRS. M. C. WHITE—Respected Madam—Having heard of your System of teaching the Pianoforte, known as the Robing American Method, and having been present a few days since, at the exercises of one of your pupils, Miss Lane, of East Portland, I was much surprised and exceedingly gratified, at the perfect performance of the most difficult pieces, (such as Gottschalk Bango, etc.) and this after the short term of six months tuition.

Allow me to express my approbation of your System of your Instruction, and with my best wishes for your success allow me to subscribe myself,

Yours Respectfully,
H. PARROT, Prof. of Music,

A Curious Persecution.

ATTEMPT TO CONVINCE A MAN OF HIS DEATH.

The following story is going the rounds of the press, credited to the Knoxville Chronicle. The truth is that that journal stole it from a Philadelphia paper, for which it was written by Max Adeler:

"In Baltimore, a short time ago, the death of William P. Mooney was announced, and a day was fixed for his funeral, to which his friends were invited. It seems that there were in the city two men named Wm. P. Mooney, each of whom had many acquaintances. Now, the friends of living William got an idea that he was dead, and so, upon the day appointed for the funeral, they repaired to the house named in the advertisement, for the purpose of shedding a regretful tear or two over the remains of their departed friend. The existing Mooney also took a notion to call around, partly to see his dead namesake, and partly that he might ascertain how it felt to attend a funeral at which a William P. Mooney officiated in the capacity of a corpse. He arrived when the services were nearly ended, and stood out in the vestibule, waiting for them to conclude. When all was over, some of his own misguided friends started for the street. They were amazed and alarmed to perceive, right in the doorway, the figure of the man whom they supposed to be dead! One of the party thought it must be the apparition of Mooney, so he poked it with his umbrella to ascertain if it was real. This hurt Mr. Mooney, and made him so mad that he struck the prober of ghosts with his cane. Then another of the party said to him:

"'Why, Mooney, what are you doing out here?' A man ought to conduct himself better than this at his own funeral!'

"'Whose funeral?' said Mooney. 'It's none of yours.'

"'See here, Mooney,' they all said, 'why don't you behave. You oughtn't to carry on so, after all the good things the minister said about you. It isn't right!'

"'Who are you talking about?' exclaimed William P., indignantly, 'I'm as lively as you are.'

"'Mooney, this is wrong,' urged the crowd; 'this is all wrong. You know you are dead; you know that your family is roosting around up stairs there, crying and going on like mad. You ought to have more respect for their feelings than to be standing here fighting. Now just go back into your coffin and let the procession go quietly to the cemetery without any more fuss.'

"'Durn the procession!' ejaculated the incensed Mooney. 'I am no more dead than you are.'

"Now this is the way the matter was settled. William and his friends. The notice has been published in the papers; the undertaker has fixed you up comfortably in ice, crape has been tied at your door knob; the Board of Trade has passed resolutions of respect to your memory; they have bought a nice monument to hold you down, and everything; so you must be dead. You can't go back to the Board of Trade, Mr. Mooney—now can you?

"'It's a mistake,' said Mooney; it's all a mistake. Let me explain to you.'

"'Oh, that's no need of explanation,' said his friends; 'the corpse is now in order. The simple fact is that you are a dead man; here's the waiting team, there's the hearse, the undertaker, the minister and the mourners, and in the parlor stands the coffin. Now you have got to be packed into that coffin whether you want to or not. Some men never know what is best for them, anyhow. We came here to have a funeral, and a funeral we are going to have, no matter if you don't like it. There is no use of saying you won't, for you have got to, so come along.'

"Thereupon they seized Mooney, and dragged him into the parlor. Those who witnessed the encounter say it was terrific. The report spread that the corpse was loose, and the undertaker and the pall-bearers all joined in the affray, and the combat thickened until Mooney broke from his tormentors and darted [illegible] then, when another knocked him down with a flat-iron and pinned him to the floor with a poker through his thighs, until assistance could be secured. The truth was developed then, and Mooney was carried to the hospital in a push-cart. When he gets well he has intends to [illegible] the directory and search if another man named Mooney lives in his vicinity. If there is such a man, will [illegible] so ask the Legislature to furnish him a Chinese name in eighteen syllables, and wash and [illegible] any other in the whole realm of nature."

SPORTSMEN—HOW A HUNGRY FOREST A DESPERATE BEAR.—Bear hunting is not always the [illegible] of pleasure. So thinks Mr. Hamilton, of Missouri. This gentleman shouldered his rifle one morning and went into the timber about a mile off to [illegible] night he had not returned, nor did he make his appearance during the following night. As squirrels are not apt to [illegible] a search neighborhood went in search of him. About three o'clock in the afternoon they found him treed thirty feet from the ground, and unable to extricate himself. He said that about 3 o'clock the previous day he came across a large black bear and shot at him, but missed him. When the bear made for him. He ran and finding the bear gaining on him he threw away his rifle and climbed a sycamore tree, with the boss following right at his heels. The top of this tree had been broken off and was hollow, in which case he thrust one of his legs to keep himself from falling, but he soon found that his leg was fast when he tried to extricate himself and he could not draw it out. The bear in the meantime had torn the boot off of the ontside, and was gnawing and eating the flesh from the foot and ankle. Mr. Hamilton took his pocket-knife and cut out the bear's eyes, but with one swoop of his paw the bear struck the knife from his hand, with a part of two of his fingers. He could see no help, and gave up to die, expecting to be eaten up alive. But soon a happy thought struck him. He had put some salt in his pocket to salt some cattle he had running [illegible] which, providentially he had not found. Of this he took a small [illegible] and sprinkled in the bear's eyes. It had the desired effect. He shook his head, growled and went down. He soon, however, returned, when a little more salt drove him away again, when, to Mr. Hamilton's delight, he saw [illegible] going into the forest. And now Mr. H. advises all hunters in Osage county, to carry a pocketful of salt with them, or else the 'sure they are dead shots' before they practice on a black bear.

WHOSE HAIR WAS IT?—A [illegible] trial is reported to have taken place in London. A lady went to a ball, and when preparing to return to her home in the evening, before going to her carriage, took off her coiffure and tied it up in a handkerchief, to keep it fresh for a party she was to attend the following night, and that she might the more conveniently put warm wraps on her head, the evening being cold. When she reached her dwelling the coiffure was not in the carriage. She dispatched a messenger for it, but it could not be found. Some days after she met an acquaintance, whose hair was the same color as her own—rather a peculiar hue—and was astonished she wore her coiffure. She taxed her with it. Of course it was indignantly denied. So certain was the lady that it was her hair the other had taken from the ball and was wearing, she sued her for it. When the trial came on the defendant struck the prosecutor dumb and convinced the Court by letting down her hair and showing they were her own, thereby procuring a judgment in her favor. Subsequently she quarrelled with her hair dresser, when it came out that the hair she had so dexterously exhibited as having grown on her head, had grown on some other head, but had been artfully and artistically arranged for the pulling down process by the hair [illegible]

In these days of frequent divorce it may not be malapropos to quote from a recent English book a good anecdote of Opie and Godwin. Opie was divorced from his first wife, and Godwin was an infidel. They were walking together near St. Martin's church. "Ha!" said Opie, "I was married in that church." "Indeed!" said Godwin, "and I was christened in it." "It is not a good shop," replied Opie, "their work don't last."

Why is a carpenter's wife an unhappy woman? Because her husband is always a jawin' her.

FINANCE AND COMMERCE.

WEDNESDAY EVENING, Jan. 17, 1872.

Gold in New York, 109¾.

Portland Legal Tender quotations, 91c buying and 92c selling.

The steamer Oriflamme's time for sailing was postponed to-day. She is now announced to leave to-morrow afternoon.

The steamer California from Victoria and Sound ports arrived in the river this afternoon. She will leave about Saturday.

The barks Helen and Chetah are reported at Astoria. They will be towed up this week. Their cargoes consist of Railroad Iron for the Oregon and California Railroad.

The bark Whittier will probably be ready to go to sea on Saturday.

We were to-day informed that the steamer Oriflamme on her last trip to San Francisco passed the schooner from Tillamook about two-thirds the way across the bar. Since then she has not been heard from.

From Messrs. Williams, Blanchard & Co.'s Sugar Circular, issued in San Francisco at the close of 1871, we obtain the following information showing the comparative importations and consumption of Sugars in the San Francisco market, for the years 1870 and 1871:

	1870.	1871.
New York Refined	274,400	57,420
Manilla	6,712,252	9,687,853
Hawaiian	11,620,923	14,009,114
Peruvian	10,147,309	10,740,602
China	1,501,870	3,400,153
Tahiti	125,536	76,624
Mexico	105,740	850,580
Batavia	4,141,462	9,172,326
Central America	1,390,116	2,920,095
California Beet		587,000
	36,951,074	59,095,665
Stock of Raws on hand Jan. 1	19,500,000	2,800,000
	56,351,074	57,895,665
Stock of Raws on hand Dec. 31	7,800,000	3,800,000
Consumption	48,551,074	54,095,665

We also learn from the circular referred to that the opening price of Hawaiian choice Sugars was 11½c., which was maintained in February. On the 4th of March an auction sale of Hawaiian Grocery grades broke the market to 10c., and another auction sale in April (which was the last for the year,) exerted a still further depressing influence upon the market. In May, the price advanced to 10¾c., which was maintained in June, advancing to 11c. in July, and closing at 11½c. at the end of the year. The short crop of Beet Root Sugar in Europe has stimulated the prices of Cane Sugars in the various sources of supply; and, with the increasing consumption in this market, we anticipate full prices for Sugars in 1872. The quotations as given above were in invoice lots, or as sold to jobbers.

The aggregate importation of Hawaiian Sugars into this port from the Sandwich Islands direct, was for the year 1871, 3,806,879 lbs., and from China, 5,760 lbs. Aside from the above we had to import some from California when our supply ran short during the busy months.

In view of the upward tendency of the Coffee market at home and abroad, we give the following statement of the Europe market from an English commercial journal. It will [illegible] that the extreme rates have not yet been reached [illegible] will be brought into competition with the demand from the United States stronger this year than any previous year:

The market, which had continued firm, exhibited an advancing tendency on the announcement that only 53,000 bags Java and 5,000 bags Rio would be offered at the Dutch Trading Company's sale on the 25th inst., but the price of 41½c which was obtained for "good ordinary" Java, although fully 3c. above the October quotation, was below general expectation, and it produced depression below the highest figures, however, again firm, and present quotations are on a [illegible] with those of the last sale for Plantation Ceylon, Mocha, Costa Rica, etc., while Native Ceylon and Malabar sorts are 1c/d higher. Common native Rio has advanced 1c/d, but fine kinds, Bahia, Java, are unchanged. Unwashed Rio on the spot is 2c to 3c dearer, and the supply is very small.

The stock of Coffee in the principal European entrepots on the 31st October, was, as will be seen by the table in another place, 55,000 tons, as against 98,150 and 120,250, at the same period of the two previous years. The imports into the six principal ports of the United States in the ten months ending 31st October, were 1,191,400 tons against 96,000 for the [illegible] 717,000. Home consumption, 1,000, and on the 1st ult. the stock was reduced to 2,500 tons against 8,000 in 1870. The shipments from Rio Janeiro to 30 October comprising 1,000,000 bags to the 31st ult. against 747,000, and 68,000 bags to Europe against 62,000 to October, 1870, making the shipments between the 1st July and the 1st November 830,000 bags to the States against 811,000, and 226,000 bags to Europe against 250,000 to same period last year. The quantity from Ceylon, and the Malabar coast is 4,000 Plantation against 2,800, and 1,000 tons Native against 200 twelve months since. The increase being accounted for by the fact that Ceylon shipments in 1870 were delayed by the [illegible] Red Sea; all accounts agree in stating that the present crop will not exceed that of 1870-71.

The deliveries in Holland during the past eleven months have been 855,800 bags against 788,000, the stock is 604,000 against 508,000, and the quantity afloat from Java 220,000 bags against 230,000 last year. The future course of prices will mainly depend on the shipments of Rio; the very high rates offered there have been an inducement to planters to send down their produce from the interior, yet the daily supplies in the six weeks ending 7th November only ranged between 6,000 and 6,600 bags, a quantity [illegible] of the Brazilian consumption of the United States [illegible] 180,000 bags per month, Europe must [illegible] and we may therefore [illegible] certain [illegible] The following [illegible] exhibits the imports, stocks, etc., of Coffee in [illegible]:
